

2019 NACo Legislative Conference Report Washington DC

March 2-6, 2019

Dick Barr

Lake County Board Member - District 3

The National Association of Counties (NACo) held its annual legislative conference in Washington DC at the Washington Hilton, March 2-6, 2019. Being my first year on the Board I was very interested in seeing the learning and networking opportunities that NACo provides to attendees of the conference, and to evaluate its value to Lake County. There were over 2,000 county officials and employees from around the country in attendance.

I arrived in DC Sunday morning, March 3rd, at 11:30, quickly checked in and registered at the conference, then went straight to work on my first session at 1PM.

The conference provided opportunities to listen to speakers, including Cabinet Secretaries, US Congress men and women, US Senators and Corporate CEOs. In addition to the speakers, there were non-stop learning sessions, workshops, policy sessions, meet and greets with Federal Agency contacts and networking opportunities. My schedule was often filled from 7AM until 10PM attending a combination of the above.

The conference also provided opportunities to meet with Federal Legislators on the Hill to listen to their initiatives to promote and support counties as well as an opportunity to share issues that affect our counties.

One of the biggest takeaways from the conference were the dozens of relationships made with fellow Board Members across the country, Federal agency contacts, Congressmen, Senators and their aides, all of whom I can follow up with to brainstorm, bounce ideas off of and compare challenges and potential solutions.

It is my honor and privilege to provide this outlined, comprehensive summary of the conference and to showcase what I heard, what I learned and who I met. This report contains the sessions I participated in and associated knowledge attained. It will comprise of a combination of Schedule notes on the sessions, my notes on the session, and follow up notes from NACo on some of the sessions.

At the end of this report is the press release associated with my trip, examples of reports from the NACo County Explorer Tool, and a full list of the Conference Schedule, including all sessions, whether I attended or not.

If you would like any additional information, or have any particular topic you would like me to pursue, please feel free to reach out to me and let me know. Please email me at DBarr@LakeCountyIL.gov with any requests, comments or questions.

Sincerely,

Dick Barr

Sessions I attended:

1. International Economic Development Task Force Meeting – Sunday 1:00 PM – 3:00 PM

- a. Schedule Notes: As shifts in U.S. trade policy ripple across the global economy, county governments and their residents feel the impacts on the ground. This session will feature a conversation with the Brookings Institution on the recent tariffs implemented in 2018 and other important changes to U.S. trade policy, with a special focus on how county leaders can continue to encourage international economic development within their county economies. SelectUSA will also join the meeting to give an update on the latest services it has to offer county leaders. Hosted by the International Economic Development Task Force, this session is open to all conference attendees.

- b. Speaker Brian Lenihan, executive director of SelectUSA, U.S. Department of Commerce, said Counties and Economic Development groups have a chance to tell their county's story to investors at the annual Investment Summit set for June 10-12 at the Washington Hilton. SelectUSA pairs economic development organizations (EDOs) with qualified foreign firms to jumpstart business investment and job creation.

"It's sort of like speed dating," said Starkey, who was recognized in 2017 as "International Person of the Year" by the Tampa Bay Organization of Women in International Trade.

Panelist Marek Gootman, fellow and director of Strategic Partnerships and Global Initiatives at the Brookings Institution, said he often sees well-meaning economic development activities going on, "but they're not well-coordinated, there is limited strategy."

"There is a significant amount of resources but it's not organized," he said. Counties need to partner with other counties in their region, as well as cities, business groups and universities to sell themselves to foreign investors, he said. Brand recognition and visibility in the context of the region is important, he noted. "Ask yourself: What is our advantage?"

2. Next Generation Network Business Meeting – Sunday 4:00 PM – 5:00 PM

- a. Schedule Notes: Network of new and newly elected county officials and learn about NACo's unique resources for the next generation of county leaders and opportunities to engage with NACo.
- b. Went around room asking participants to share their biggest issues. Issues mentioned include:
- Drugs,
 - Opioids,
 - Property taxes,
 - Hospitals,
 - Marijuana challenges,

- vi. Income inequality,
- vii. Growing too slow,
- viii. growing too fast,
- ix. Age gaps,
- x. Access to health care,
- xi. cell service,
- xii. broadband,
- xiii. etc.
- c. Next Generation is a group that helps members navigate NACo, welcomes them in, and helps them connect to committees of interest.

3. NACo Next Generation Network / County Leadership Institute (CLI) / High Performance Leadership Academy Reception – Sunday 5:00 PM – 6:00 PM

4. Federal Agency Contacts Open House – Monday 8:00 AM – 9:00 AM

- a. Coffee with representatives from several federal agencies. Met with, exchanged contacts with representatives from the following agencies
 - i. Federal Communications Commission
 - ii. U.S. Census Bureau
 - iii. U.S. Department of Energy
 - iv. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
 - v. U.S. Department of Labor, Employment and Training Administration
 - vi. U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs
 - vii. U.S. Economic Development Administration

5. General Session: Monday 9:00 AM – 10:30 AM

- a. Speakers:
 - i. Hon. Alexander Acosta - U.S. Secretary of Labor

Acosta said the Administration's goal is to increase apprenticeships in the country. . Trump signed an executive order in 2017 to increase the number of apprenticeships from 500,000 to 1,000,000.

"We're going to announce grants of $150 million to community colleges, asking them to find matching partners in the business community," Acosta said. "It's a win-win. Businesses get skills they ask for and colleges get insight into skills that are required." www.apprenticeship.gov, is a DOL website that connects career seekers, employers and educators.

Acosta asked county officials to talk to their schools about showing students "multiple paths to success."

"Kids can take apprenticeships and get a college degree with no student debt," he said, noting that they can come out making on average of $28 an hour.

Acosta also wants county officials to be aware that occupational licensing regulations can hurt people who move from one state, county or city to the next; he zeroed in on one audience that is particularly hard hit: military spouses.

“Our men and women in the armed forces ... often, we recruit them as an individual and somewhere along the line they get married,” he said. What happens with frequent moves is a spouse who is in a licensed occupation loses that license, interrupting their career.

ii. Hon. Joni Ernst - U.S. Senator (R-Iowa)

iii. Kellyanne Conway - Assistant to the President and Senior Counselor

6. Reimagining County Behavioural Health Crisis Response Systems and Policies

10:45 AM – 11:45 AM

a. Schedule Notes:

Without alternatives to jails and emergency rooms, law enforcement and other first responders have few options for diverting people who are experiencing a behavioral health crisis. NACo is partnering with Arnold Ventures to improve America's Crisis response system through the Data-Driven Justice Project. This workshop presents engagement strategies counties are using to build regional and state support to redesign crisis response systems and link people with mental illnesses and/or substance use disorders to places where they are most likely to receive effective treatment.

- b. America's 3,069 counties are integral to America's behavioral health system. Counties annually invest $70 billion in community health systems, including behavioral health services. Through 750 behavioral health authorities and community providers, county governments plan and operate community-based services for persons with mental illnesses and substance use conditions. County-based behavioral health systems exist in 23 states that represent 75% of the US population.
- c. Key stats
 - i. 1 in 5 adults in the U.S. experience a mental illness
 - 1. More than half did not receive treatment
 - ii. 1 in 25 adults in the U.S. experience a Serious mental illness
 - 1. 1/3rd did not receive treatment
 - iii. 1 in 10 adults in the U.S. experience a substance abuse disorder
 - 1. 90% did not receive treatment
- d. Six Strategies to address Behavioral Health in Counties:
 - i. Onboard people in your community to help
 - 1. Building community support and collaboration is a critical first step in creating successful strategies and initiatives to serve high-utilizers. These initiatives require strong relationships among a diverse set of people including law enforcement, behavioral health providers, housing and homelessness services, faith-based organizations, advocates, people with lived experience, and other community resources and service providers. These groups often have limited experience collaborating with each other and do not typically share data, staff, or mandates. Below are three critical steps for getting started.

2. Players should include :
 - a. Law Enforcement Leaders
 - b. Mayors and County Commissioners
 - c. District Attorneys and Prosecutors
 - d. Behavioral Health Leaders
 - e. Public Defenders
 - f. Jail Directors & Jail Health Care Providers
 - g. Judges
 - h. EMTs
 - i. Hospitals
 - j. Local Federally Qualified Health Centers & Clinics
 - k. Reentry Organizations
 - l. Housing Authorities
 - m. Homeless Service Organizations
 - n. Faith-based Organizations
 - o. Consumer Advocates
 - p. Data Scientists
 - q. Local Tech Innovators
 - r. Local Universities
- ii. Identify the people you hope to serve
 1. Communities should develop and implement plans to combine data across organizational silos to identify the highest utilizers of multiple services and their needs. This will require navigating legal, privacy, and security concerns and matching data across different systems and more.
 2. Strategies:
 - a. Build consensus and document the specific uses for data
 - b. Identify the minimum types and amounts of data you actually need to achieve the purpose
 - c. Provide ongoing opportunities to inform individuals and the public about how their data are being used to gain trust
 - d. Build privacy, security and civil liberty protections into the design of the data sharing systems from the start
 - e. Use HIPPA as a tool
- iii. Build a Diversion Strategy
 1. Pre-arrest diversion strategies offer alternatives to incarceration for individuals with mental and substance use disorders. A pre-arrest diversion strategy includes tools for first responders to determine whether an alternative to arrest and potential incarceration in the criminal justice system is appropriate and, if appropriate, to link individuals to treatment and services. Communities should identify what types of procedures and services will best address the issues discovered through data analysis and conversations with community leaders.
 2. The goal of a successful pre-arrest diversion strategy for a high-utilizer population is to reduce the rates of emergency health and public safety service usage, while increasing linkages across health, behavioral health, housing, and other social supports so that an individual gets the services they need (e.g. if someone needs substance abuse treatment but regularly comes into contact with homelessness services, they can be directed to treatment through the homeless service). Such a strategy should also aim to improve the health and wellbeing of individuals while promoting better public safety outcomes and a more efficient use of public resources.

3. Approaches include:
 - a. Police Based response model
 - b. Mobile crisis teams
 - c. Law Enforcement Tools
 - d. Crisis Hotlines
- iv. Create Warm Hand-Offs
 1. After the decision is made to divert an individual, the question for the first-responder becomes: DIVERT TO WHAT AND WHERE?
 2. Law enforcement and other first responders need a place and trained staff for warm-handoffs of individuals in crisis. These are key elements of successful diversion programs and ensure that individuals are directly and immediately connected to treatment services. While some communities already have facilities that can accommodate drop-off treatment, stabilization, and referral, others may have to build new capacity to facilitate warm-handoffs
 3. Options we can consider:
 - a. Crisis Stabilization Centers
 - b. Service Centers
 - c. Service Based Diversion & Referral
 - d. Supportive Housing
- v. Initiate and Deliver ongoing services effectively
 1. The next strategy in developing a strong foundation of support for high-utilizers is to provide effective services and treatment on an ongoing basis. As mentioned previously, a key characteristic of the high-utilizer population is the fragmented, episodic and partial care they receive, which results in their continued cycling through services that are not fully meeting their underlying needs.
 2. Developing coordinated and comprehensive community-based treatment is the only way to break this cycle and respond to the multiple and complex health, behavioral health, housing, and other needs that highutilizers often have.
 3. Seven treatment and support services that have been demonstrated to be effective for the high-utilizer population are:
 - a. Assertive Community Treatment (ACT)
 - b. Intensive Case Management (ICM)
 - c. Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT)
 - d. Peer Support Services
 - e. Pre-Release Coordination of Services
 - f. Harm Reduction
 - g. Supportive Housing
- vi. Leverage available funding streams to optimize care
 1. Much is contingent on identifying resources to move your community's initiatives forward. However, many resources can also be identified through engaging all of your community's stakeholders and helping show that every one of them derives value from helping your high-utilizer population.
 2. There are broad-based funding streams that can work together and separately to help fund necessary treatments and support services for your community's highest utilizers. The primary funding streams for this are Medicaid, Medicaid/Medicare Dual Eligibility, Supplementary Security Income, and resources from the Department of Veterans Affairs.

7. Unveiling the New County Explorer Tool and how it can strengthen your advocacy – Monday 1:45 PM – 3:00 PM

- a. Schedule Notes: NACo's County Explorer Tool provides easy access to the latest available county-level data, with hundreds of indicators across categories ranging from county administration to all manner of policy issues, including transportation and infrastructure, health and many others. NACo staff unveil an all new and dramatically improved version of County Explorer, optimized for functionality on mobile platforms and suitable for use by experts and novice users.
- b. Perhaps the most important thing I learned on the conference was the NACo County Explorer Tool.
- c. Access at <https://ce.naco.org/>

8. Coming to you soon: Emerging trends in State Legislatures – Monday 3:15 – 5:00 PM

- a. Schedule Notes: State governments have a significant impact on the operations of counties, and states across the country are legislating on similar issues state to state. Discussion of how states are tackling pressing county priorities, like property taxes, 5G and elections, and how Federal action could change the landscape for states and Counties alike.
- b. Discussed marijuana regulation, SALT deductions in new tax code, Elections and Disaster response.

9. National Conference of Republican County Officials Reception – Monday 6:00 PM – 7:00 PM

10. General Session: Tuesday 9:00 AM – 11:00 AM

a. Hon. Sonny Perdue - U.S. Secretary of Agriculture

- i. He spoke about the relationship between Counties and the Federal Government, how the USDA interacts with local governments, the Farm Bill (which affects 30,000 acres of land in Lake County), water treatment issues, Ubiquitous Broadband, property ownership rights and the common challenges that exist at all levels of government.
- ii. Spoke of his concern regarding such bitter partisanship having taken the place of working to solve problems, blaming both sides.

b. Hon. Ben Carson - U.S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development

- i. He spoke of "opportunity zones", giving Governors the ability to dedicate 25% of the state's most blighted areas for significant economic development, including federal tax incentives for investors to not just invest in these blighted areas, but to encourage them to stay there long term.

- ii. He spoke on the importance of not just new growth, but consistent growth as well
 - iii. He spoke on the revamping of Section 3 to require hiring of low income and local workers on HUD projects to build training and work opportunities to our underserved areas.
 - iv. Frustrated with how the HUD voucher system incentivizes separated families, he spoke on removing rules and regulations in the HUD system that don't promote self sufficiency and families staying together.
 - v. He spoke of the importance of local Governments investing in infrastructure projects that will invite new investments in the area, specifically calling for transportation projects and workforce development. The 2 most important assets to new companies is the availability of qualified employees and a way to get them to and from work.
 - vi. He spoke about the creation of the Opportunity and Revitalization Council to address grant funding, crime prevention, affordable housing, infrastructure improvements and loan guarantees.
 - vii. While he is working to change the perception of housing vouchers, he spoke about ways that local governments have worked to incentivize landlords to accept vouchers by offering no damage guarantees.
 - viii. He also spoke of the necessity of our local governments to address the Opioid epidemic, while not villifying addicts, as he knows how easy it is to become addicted to opiates.
- c. Hon. Amy Klobuchar - U.S. Senator (D-Minn.)
 - d. Hon. Marco Rubio - U.S. Senator (R-Fla.)
 - i. Small business and entrepreneurship, connecting entrepreneurs to capital, prioritizing small business
 - e. Steve Case - Chairman and CEO of Revolution LLC and Co-Founder of America Online

11. White House Tour: Tuesday 11:30 AM – 12:15 PM

12. Group Photo at the Capital: Tuesday 12:30 PM – 1:00 PM

13. Capital Visits: Tuesday 1:30 PM – 5:00 PM

- a. Attempted meeting with Congressman Brad Schneider, however he was not in his office, however I did leave a card for the Congressman, and his staff did provide me with Gallery passes to both the House and Senate.
- b. Toured the Capital.
- c. Met with US Congressman for the 13th District, Rodney Davis' Legislative aid, Alex Murglin. We spoke on several issues the Congressman was working on as well as issues germane to Illinois and its counties.
- d. Met with NACo Lobbyist regarding draft Senate legislation to provide Federal funding for VSO's for County VACs.

14. President's Reception Tuesday 7:00 PM – 11:00 PM

- a. Closing reception for the Conference.
- b. Final opportunity for networking.

15. Wednesday had no scheduled events.

- a. Unable to schedule any personal meetings with local Congressional leaders
- b. Opted to walk around The Capitol and Library of Congress and tour the National Mall while waiting for my return flight.
- c. On future trips, I will need to do a better job coordinating with our State Association and the individual Congressional leaders' offices in advance.

Departed for airport 3:00 PM Wednesday

MEDIA RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: March 9, 2019

Contact: Dick Barr DB@DBGREC.COM 847-644-1154

Lake County Board's Dick Barr participates in NACo's Legislative Conference Administration and congressional leaders highlight county role in serving residents

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Lake County Board Member, Dick Barr, joined nearly 2,000 other county leaders in Washington, D.C. for the National Association of Counties (NACo) annual Legislative Conference March 2-6. Participants met with members of the Trump administration and Congress on key issues like disaster recovery, the opioid and substance abuse epidemic, Veteran issues and revitalizing American infrastructure.

“As a new County Board Member, I wanted to see the value that a nationwide conference of County officials could provide. I was blown away at the quality and quantity of information available, the A-List of speakers, and the personal contacts, not just U.S. Congressmen, Senators and their aids, but Federal agency, and other county official contacts from all over the country to share experiences with,” said Barr. “I must have walked away with 50-60 business cards of leaders throughout the country whom I can call on for valuable information, to bounce ideas off, and to see how they solved issues that are currently affecting Lake County.”

“Decisions made by the White House, Congress and federal courts have major impacts on our ability to lead our communities and pursue a better future,” said NACo President Greg Cox. “This conference is an opportunity to strengthen our relationship with our federal partners as we help residents forge pathways to live well and thrive.”

In meetings with lawmakers and administration officials, county leaders outlined several key federal policy priorities including:

- Promoting county infrastructure priorities in a comprehensive infrastructure package
- Supporting the Payments in Lieu of Taxes (PILT) and Secure Rural Schools (SRS) programs, which honor federal commitments to public lands and timber counties
- Promoting mental health, substance use disorders treatment and criminal justice reform, and
- Boosting broadband deployment and accessibility while preserving local zoning authority.

As part of its policy advocacy, NACo launched an updated “Counties Matter” campaign to illustrate counties’ vast role in advancing America’s policy priorities at the local level. NACo also launched a new and improved County Explorer. The tool, which allows users to map data at the county level, now works on mobile devices and is more user-friendly.

“When I first was introduced to the “County Explorer” tool, I was amazed at how much data is available to us through our association with NACo. At the click of a mouse we can compare our county, based on size, demographic, population, rural/urban landscape on metrics such as economy growth, opioid deaths, number of hospitals, veteran population, homeless, affordable housing, number of exports and imports, along with hundreds of other metrics,” said Barr. “Being able to access this data instantly, and printing a beautifully formatted and easy to read report is an invaluable tool for advocacy when speaking with our local, state and federal leaders.”

Conference participants heard from congressional and administration leaders, including U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue, U.S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Ben Carson, U.S. Secretary of Labor Alexander Acosta, U.S. Senators Joni Ernst, Amy Klobuchar and Marco Rubio, Assistant to the President and Senior Counselor Kellyanne Conway and Co-Founder of America Online Steve Case.

Counties officials were very active on Capitol Hill, meeting with senators and representatives on key County issues. The conference featured three briefings on Capitol Hill: one on strengthening human services; one on fixing the FAST Act, focusing on transportation infrastructure; and another on how counties are reimagining health care in county jails. NACo also announced a joint task force with the National Sheriffs' Association to examine the Medicaid Inmate Exclusion Policy, which strips federal health and veterans' benefits from individuals upon admission to jail – not upon conviction – leading to increased recidivism.

Dozens of county officials also rallied at a press conference with a bipartisan group of congressional leaders to underscore support for key public lands programs, Secure Rural Schools and Payments in Lieu of Taxes. Watch the press conference here.

There were more than two dozen policy workshops featuring county officials and other leaders in the public, private and nonprofit sectors. They focused on topics like the opioid crisis; early childhood investments; workforce and economic development; transportation and infrastructure; public health and safety; mental health and jails; and cybersecurity and technology.

“The NACo Conference was just the beginning. Now I need to take advantage of the information I learned and work with my colleagues on the Board to evaluate how Lake County can benefit from these best practices,” said Barr. “Cultivating the relationships obtained in Washington over the coming months will be instrumental in building on the concepts gathered at the conference and solidifying ideas to benefit all residents of Lake County.”

ABOUT SNAP

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) is a public assistance program that offers nutrition support to eligible low-income individuals and families. The county role in administering SNAP is one of the many ways in which counties serve as the front-line social safety-net for our nation’s communities.

Although SNAP is primarily a partnership between the federal government and states, ten states delegate SNAP administration directly to county agencies: California, Colorado, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Virginia and Wisconsin.

Families receiving SNAP in the ten county-administered states make up 32 percent of total SNAP recipients. In 2017, counties in those ten states received $20 billion in SNAP funds - out of the 62 billion - received by county governments.

OUR ASK

NACo applauds the passage of a bipartisan farm bill, which protects funding for SNAP. As Congress and the administration consider changes to time limits and work requirements for SNAP recipients, NACo urges our federal partners to engage with counties about the impact these changes may have on our residents.

- Eliminating the SALT deduction would be a tax increase on almost 30 percent of American taxpayers, since the deduction allows the subtraction of their mandatory tax payments to state and local governments from their federally taxable income.
- Attempts to eliminate the SALT deduction represent a nearly $1.3 trillion revenue grab by the federal government at the expense of state and local government services and by gutting home ownership incentives.
- The SALT deduction has been a bedrock principle since the first three-page federal income tax in 1913, and the deduction supports local school funding, home ownership, lower middle-income taxes, tailored social services, infrastructure development and local job creation efforts. The principle of state and local control of tax systems extends back to President Lincoln and even Alexander Hamilton in the Federalist Papers.

OUR ASK

Counties urge Congress and the administration to preserve local decision-making and prevent double taxation by maintaining the SALT deduction in comprehensive tax reform.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT (CDBG) PROGRAM

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's CDBG program provides critical funding to counties to improve local communities and serve our most vulnerable residents. Counties use the flexibility of CDBG to partner with the private and non-profit sectors to address economic development, infrastructure and human service needs, and to create jobs through the expansion and retention of businesses.

OUR ASK

Counties urge Congress to provide $3.5 billion for CDBG in FY 2019 to support local community and economic development, job creation and retention projects.

Source: NACo analysis of U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development data

*Notes: County CDBG amount reflects entitlement funding. The State CDBG amount is the state administered CDBG, including the non-entitlement funding for smaller cities and counties. The national CDBG amount includes American Samoa, Guam, Marianas Islands, Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands. For 9 counties the percentage change reflects the period between the first year they became entitlement communities (later than FY 2010) and FY 2018. NACo Produced profiles for the FY 2018 entitlement counties (including city-county consolidations and independent cities qualifying as county governments under their state constitution) and Hawaii non-entitlement counties.

Early Childhood Luncheon: Leading Local Efforts to Reach Young Children

Jefferson East & West, Concourse Level

Seating is first-come, first-served and limited to registered attendees.

Early childhood investments help to support a thriving community and positively impact children's outcomes that span into adulthood. Strong evidence shows that when counties invest in the first three years of a child's life, the returns for the community are the highest, and these investments can reduce the need for more expensive interventions later in an individual's life. Hear from an expert panel of county and national thought leaders about how counties are investing in young children and advancing early childhood policy, programs and systems.

This luncheon is made possible by the National Collaborative for Infants and Toddlers (NCIT), funded through the Pritzker Children's Initiative. We thank NCIT for their support.

Tax-Efficient Planning Opportunities - Sponsored by Nationwide Retirement Solutions

Shaw, First Floor

Most investors saving for retirement do so by saving through 401ks, 403bs and other tax-deferred accounts – though a lucky few still have pensions. With all this tax-deferred income, clients may find themselves with a hefty tax bill or in a higher tax bracket when they withdraw income, especially at age 70 ½. We'll talk about planning opportunities to reduce the impact of taxes on your client's retirement income, like Net Unrealized Appreciation, HSAs, Roth Conversion and Qualified Charitable Deductions and sequencing case studies that demonstrate how the order of withdrawals can impact the longevity of a retirement income plan.

Backstage Pass: Behind the Scenes of Congressional Decision Making

Columbia 11 & 12, Terrace Level

Many Americans believe that federal lawmakers are unreachable – that they don't care about what constituents think and that influencing legislative outcomes is impossible and a waste of time. Yet research shows that members of Congress strongly believe that constituents are a valuable and informative resource in the decision-making process. Your "backstage pass" dispels myths about Congress and provides practical strategies on how decisions are really made and by whom.

How Elections Shift Power in Congress: Identifying and Building Relations in a New Congress

Columbia 11 & 12, Terrace Level

A new Congress means new committee and subcommittee chairs, new alliances and significant changes in the political terrain on Capitol Hill. When power shifts in Congress from one political party to the other, an advocate who may have been represented by an anonymous backbencher the year before might become the conduit to the most important legislator for your cause. This presentation shows advocates how to build relationships with new members of Congress, the value of identifying key committee chairs (and why some are more important than others) and research on best practices for building relationships with new lawmakers back home.
